

GRIEVANCE TRAINING

Wednesday, November 4 | 4:30-6:30 pm

Build the skills and confidence to navigate grievances from investigation through resolution. This practical training covers the essential tools union representatives need to advocate effectively for members.

Who should attend:

Local union leaders, building representatives, grievance chairs, local presidents, and any member who wants to better understand the grievance process and their rights at work.

What You'll Learn

- How to write strong contract and discipline grievances
- Arbitrability and past practice
- Your right to information (and the ULP)
- The role of a union representative
- Weingarten Rights
- The duty of fair representation and the impact of Janus
- And more!
